GOLDA IN BUCHAREST

THE Prime Minister's visit to Rumania has provided fertile ground for speculation throughout the world, and the fruits of the trip will be the subject of even more intensive analyses.

The fact that the invitation came only two weeks after Rumanian President Nicolae Ceausescu completed a five-day visit to Egypt led many ob-servers to assume that the Rumanians were seeking to act as mediators in the Arab-Israel

No doubt Mr. Ceausescu will report to Mrs. Meir on his discussion with President Sadat in Cairo a month ago, and will also probe her on Israel's position on the issues in our region. Whether he will make any definite pro-posals or not, is as yet un-

Rumania, most analysts agree, is interested in reducing tension in our region in order to eliminate a principal condition for Soviet penetration of the eastern Mediterranean. But Bucharest is also well aware that it is the willingness for peace, and not mediators, which is lacking. While most of the speculation surrounding the visit has centred on the possibility of Rumanian meditation between Egypt and Israel, it has also been sug-gested that Rumania is seeking to balance the Ceausescu visit to Cairo. But perhaps the simplest explanation is that apart from Rumania's general interest in the Middle East, relations between Jerusalem and Bucharest have developed to such dimensions that a visit of this kind serves a host of interests for both countries.

Not the least of these interests is the growing trade between Israel and Rumania. Since the 1967 visit of Finance Minister Sapir to Bucharest, the mutual flow of goods has grown by leaps and bounds, and both coun-tries have found each other to be very good trading partners. Rumania under President Ceausescu's leadership has shown an independence which has given it singular stature on the inter-national scene and the relations with Israel are an important element in this position. Mrs. Meir's visit and the warm welcome accorded her in Bucharest vesterday, will only serve to highlight Rumania's unique posture. We may well look forward therefore to even further growth of commercial and cultural ties as a result of the current visit.

And if in addition the discussions on the Middle East situation lead to more than an exchange of information, that too will be welcome, but should not necessarily be expected.

Humphrey wins Ohio primary

Nikolai Fodgorny and the Com-mander of Baltic Forces, Gen. Go. New YORK (AP). — Senator Hubert Humphrey has won a de-layed victory in the Ohio presidential primary election, defeating Se-nator George McGovern to win the state's 38 at-large delegate votes to the Democratic national convention. Mr. Humphrey surrendered many of the state's 115 Congressional district delegates to Mr. Mc-

With 90 per cent of Ohio's 12,648 polling places tabulated by state election officials, Mr. Humphrey had Govern. 38 at-large votes and 38 from eight Congressional districts, while Mr. McGovern had 64 delegates from 13 Congressional districts.

Thirteen other delegates were won by local favourite sons.

Of the 1.528 precincts unreported 710 were in Summit County (Akron) where the United Rubber Workers Union had endorsed Mr. Humphrey. In Hamilton County (Cincinnati) with 1,000 of the 1,162 precincts reporting, Mr. McGovern led Mr. Humphrey by 633 votes. The split ticket vote however, could change the vote totals, possibly dividing the results. Those figures were not expected until late resterday or today. In neighbouring Indiana, Mr. Hum-phrey had defeated Alabama Governor George Wallace in Tuesday's other spotlight primary.

TURKS MOVE TO BAN OPIUM GROWING

THE last official opium poppy harvest in Turkey has started. "Unofficial opium production is impossible," says a Turkish spokesman. "Next year no poppies will be grown in Turkey," says Dr. Quentin M. The problem involves a wide credibility gulf. American narcotic agencies have asserted for years that Turkey is the prime source of illegal trade in opium, morphine and heroin. Turkey, until at least three years ago, was the world's major source of oplum and at that time American experts estimated that at least four times as much optum was produced as was needed for inter-national medical purposes.

Africans stress need for direct translations

By DEVORAH EMMET WIGODER DORTIONS of the Bible have been translated into almost 450 African languages and no fewer than 173 million copies of the Scriptures have been distributed in African countries since 1970.

These were some of the figures given during a session on the trans-lation of the Bible into African languages at the congress on "Black Africa and the Bible" which took place in Jerusalem last week.

Initiated and organized by the Movement of Christian Intellectuals in Africa, in cooperation with the Israel Interfaith Committee and the Hebrew University's Truman . Research Institute, the congress was attended by 36 Christian delegates from 17 African countries.

Some of the problems of translation were dealt with by Professor Chaim Rabin, of the Hebrew Uni-versity, and by two African clergymen, Rev. Dahunsi from Nigeria and Rev. Ngally from the Cameroun. lectuals of Africa, which organized the congress.

But I ing, secure and agreed peace." have also gained the impression Dr. Kirchschlager emphasiz have also gained the impression that you are deeply concerned that peace should be as lasting and as secure as is humanly possible. I understand your concern. No one can ignore his history."
Thus the Foreign Minister of Austria, Dr. Rudolf Kirchschlager, in an interview with The Jerusalem Post towards the end of his five-day visit to Israel. When I asked him whether his reference to our history referred to the "Masada Complex," Dr. Kirchschlager amphasized that he had given no undertakings here regarding his visit to Egypt; nor had he given any advice, "I came to hear and see and understand the situation, I can give no advice, this is what I shall do in Egypt also."

Asked for his opinion on the Waldheim "Lausanne-type plan," Dr. Kirchschlager said he had heard about it — "but I think it is as yet an idea rather than a plan" — only after his arrival in Jerusalem.

"To me it seemed at first to have a certain similarity to the European Security and Coopera-tion Conference idea, which will also need time for translation into reality."

He stressed that Austria "always holds the opinion that disputes and crises which threaten world peace should be settled by talks between the parties concerned, that is, through negotiations. Not necessarily through derstanding for it, but as the reimmediate bilateral talks but presentative of the Austrian State through negotiations."

Austrian Foreign Minister Dr. RUDOLF KIRCH-SCHLAGER, who says that he does not believe in 'artificial diplomacy,' has just concluded a fiveday visit to Israel. He will also visit Egypt later this month. In an interview with the Post's YA'ACOV FRIEDLER, Dr. Kirchschlager said that he had come to Israel to hear and see and understand the situation,' and that he would follow this policy during his Middle East travels.

Public education in such matters should not be left to the newspapers.

One of the main aims of the educational system should be to train a modern electorate geared to be aware of today's problems, and able to understand and com-municate with the Arab minori-ties. The training given in these fields should not consist of poli-tical indoctrination. The main facts should be exposed and free thinking encouraged. The fear of unduly influencing future elec-tors should not prevent the teaching and analysis of current events in the classroom.

Some critics of modern school systems accuse them of stifling intellectual curiosity and breed ing hate for learning. Although this view is probably incorrect in many cases, the interest in schoolwork could be enhanced by modernizing the curricula and in-creasing the emphasis given to subjects of current importance.

Bringing development aid down to earth

By DAVID KRIVINE Jerusalem Post Eccnomic Correspondent

HOR economic development of poor countries it is trade that counts. Foreign aid has been disappointing. It is insufficiently dynamic, it has not been flexible, it has saddied poor countries with an accumulation of debts (since it is mostly financed by loan), and worst of ail, it is tailing off.

The Horowitz Proposal, put forward by the former Governor of the Bank of Israel, is the best idea for boosting aid that has been thought up so far. It suggests tapoing the vast money markets of the West by the simple device of subsidizing interest rates. The West has not responded until now because it is saddled with a monetary crisis of its own. When the U.S. runs into a deficit in its foreign payments, all the world starts retrench-

Some say that low-interest loans, even non-interest loans, are not a cure-all, because the capital still has to be repaid; and it is difficult amongt he "hard-core" (most undeveloped) countries to find viable projects for loan finance. The Horowitz Proposal is in abeyance; but it will come to the fore again, that is certain. Something a little bit more earthy is required during the present bleak period of distillusion-

Moshe Sarbar, Mr. Horowitz' successor as Governor of the Bank of Israel, has supplied one such idea, and it could be a winner.

What the developed countried need selves). The best way to get foreign exchange is to earn it, by exports. It is not easy to export in supercompetitive world markets — not even to other developing territories, where commercial travellers from the West throng every hotel. And there is one difficulty which particularly affects salesmen from the Third World — credit.

Disparities

This subject reveals the disparities lying under the surface that make it so difficult to be a junior in the economic league. If you net a big order, of say, heavy equipment, you must give long.

The test must not be whether can discount these (bank-guarantee) bills at a small cost.

More than that: if the U.S. or Japan sells to a backward country, - the bills it receives are credit-worthy, because the authorities in the debtor country will see to it that they are redeemed - otherwise the Government's credit standing is impaired. (The Government is in most cases, directly or indirectly, the guarantor). A country short of funds will pay its big creditor first,

Elderly pair dead, thought suicide pact

TEL AVIV. — The police last night tentatively listed as a double sulcide the deaths of an elderly couple whose badly decomposed bodies were found in their flat here earlier in the day. But investigators were still not ruling out the possibility of foul play.

The police were called to the scene by neighbours, alarmed at the growing steach coming from the couple's shuttered apartment on Rehov Jabotinsky. On enter-ing, they found the half-naked body of 71-year-old Yona Blau-Arazi, a retired hotel chef, lying in the living room of the ground-floor flat. The body bore multiple stab wounds on the abdomen. In a bed in the adjoining bedroom lay the body of Blau-Arazi's 65-vearold wife, Hanna Mrs. Blau-Arazi had apparently swallowed a large quantity of an as-yet-unidentified poison. The pathologist's report later indicated the coup's had been similar arson attempts at the orices of the National Religious Party, "Hatzofe" (the N.R.P. newsbeen dead for 10 days.

Neighbours told the police that Mr. Blau-Arazi had complained to neighbours on Arril 24 of trouble with his wife. The fol-lowing day the apartment was shuttered, and neighbours did not see the pair again. The couple came to Israel from the U.S. 14 VESTS 820.

In an undated will found in the apartment, Blau-Arazi left all his money to the State. (Itim)
